PREFACE

History. The Condensed Rules for an Author and Title Catalog, of which a revision is here presented, were prepared by a committee* of the American Library Association appointed September 5, 1877. The full text of the rules was first submitted at the Buffalo conference in 1883,† was printed in full in the Proceedings of that year (Library Journal, 8: 251–254), and reprinted in Cutter’s Rules for a Dictionary Catalog. The importance of some uniformity in cataloging practice has therefore from the beginning been fully recognized by the Association. The compilation and issue of the A. L. A. Rules has not, however, prevented considerable divergence in the practice even of libraries organized subsequent to 1883.

Questions of coöperative cataloging continued to engage attention, and coming to the front at the Montreal meeting of June, 1900, finally resulted in definite action by the Association. One of the first matters to be considered by the Publishing Board was the means of introducing more uniformity into the size and style of type, the size and quality of catalog cards, and the rules governing entries. As soon as the agreement had been consummated between the Publishing Board and the Library of Congress whereby the latter was to supply printed cards for current books, beginning, if possible, with January 1, 1901, the appointment of the present Catalog Rules Committee was decided upon.

The work so far accomplished by this committee can be summarized briefly as follows: Immediately after its appointment, about the middle of December, 1900, it was instructed to inquire into the type and style of entry in use at the Library of Congress, to recommend such modifications as might seem necessary, and, further, to consider the catalog rules in force—especially the points on which American libraries had hitherto failed to reach an agreement.

Special efforts were to be made to secure agreement between the rules of the Library of Congress and the new A. L. A. Rules. In case of disagreement, the variations on the part of the Library of Congress rules were to be specified in notes. In order that the issue of printed cards by the Library of Congress might begin with the calendar year 1901, the Committee agreed that for the time being the type and style of entry in use at the Library of Congress should be accepted, with a few slight modifications.

The Committee met for the first time in March, 1901. The points first to be considered were those affecting typography and form of entry, and the following recommendations were agreed upon and submitted:

a) The entire heading to be printed in 12-point heavy-faced type, exceptions being made for titles, explanatory phrases, etc.
b) The author’s name or the heading to be printed on a line by itself.
c) The title to be printed in 12-point.

† C. A. Cutter, S. H. Scudder. C. B. Tillinghast, committee.
d) The imprint to be in roman type.

e) Series note to be printed at the end of the collation.*

f) For collation, notes, and contents, the largest type that the 32-size card will permit is to be used, and if the 8-point type is the largest, to use that.

g) The position of the collation and series note to be on a separate line immediately after the date and preceding other notes.

h) Notes as a rule to be placed before contents.

It was decided that the A. L. A. Rules printed as Appendix I to Cutter’s Rules for a Dictionary Catalog, 3d edition, 1891, should be made the basis for further consideration, particularly those sections which had been included in “disputed points” submitted by the Coöperation Committee of the A. L. A. at Montreal in 1900.

The result of these deliberations was embodied in the report to the Publishing Board presented at the annual meeting of the Association at Waukesha in July, 1901. The Publishing Board, in accepting the report, gave further instructions to continue the work and to cover the whole ground of the catalog rules. It was also agreed that the Library of Congress might print the rules when they should be sufficiently advanced to warrant it.

The great distances which several of the members were obliged to travel in order to attend the meetings, as also the exacting duties of their positions, necessarily tended to delay the work of revision. The demand by libraries which had begun to order printed cards from the Library of Congress, for some statement which should embody the main points in the rules and also indicate wherein the Library of Congress differed from them in practice, was, however, increasing from day to day, and the Committee accordingly decided to issue an advance edition immediately. While answering in a measure the immediate needs of libraries which subscribed to the printed cards, it was hoped that it might also serve as a basis for the further consideration of rules on which there still existed some disagreement, and especially as a means of facilitating suggestions and criticisms on the part of librarians who took an interest in the advancement of coöperative cataloging and who were desirous of seeing a standard code of rules adopted by American libraries.

In August, 1902, the Library of Congress accordingly printed a draft code under the title “A. L. A. Rules—Advance edition,” copies of which were distributed free to all libraries on request.

The Committee was particularly anxious to bring about uniformity between its revision of the A. L. A. Rules, the 4th edition of Cutter’s Rules for a Dictionary Catalog, then about to be issued, and a new edition of the Library School Rules, the issue of which was also under consideration. It was felt that the establishment of practical agreement between these codes would in itself represent a notable advance towards uniformity in cataloging practice.

After the printing of the Advance edition, the Committee continued its work of revision. Criticisms and comments from several of the leading librarians and catalogers who had examined the draft code were carefully summarized and submitted for discussion at three meetings held during 1903 and 1904. In the fall of the latter year, the material for the new revision was sufficiently advanced to warrant the hope that a first edition might go to press in the course of the winter.

International cooperation. In October, 1904, the American Library Association, then assembled for its annual conference, received from the Library Association (formerly the Library Association of the United Kingdom) a proposal looking to the preparation of a joint code of rules. This invitation was accepted by the Executive Board, the Catalog Rules Committee being authorized to enter into communication with the corresponding committee of the Library Association. All plans for printing were consequently set aside pending the outcome of the discussions which followed. There being no opportunity for joint meetings, consultation was carried on by correspondence only. This, together with the fact that neither committee was in a position to meet more than once a year, has been the cause of some delay in securing a full agreement on the various points of difference found to exist between the draft codes issued by the two committees.

Meetings of the American committee at Narragansett Pier in June, 1906, and of the British committee at Bradford two months later, served to advance the general agreement sufficiently to warrant definite preparations for printing. In answer to a communication of July 17, 1906, from the chairman of the American committee, in which the decisions of the Narragansett meeting were given and plans for printing presented, Mr. Minto, the Hon. Secretary Catalog Rules Revision Committee, wrote as follows (Sept. 19th, 1906):

"My Committee are of opinion that the two draft codes (English and American) have reached such a stage of agreement as to warrant printing as soon as possible, and we have been authorized by the Library Association to proceed with and to conclude such further negotiations with your Committee as may be necessary for the issue of a joint code.

"We think that the code should be printed in two editions (English and American) but that the editions should as far as possible be identical in arrangement and wording, and that where a divergence of opinion between the two Committees exists with respect to a particular rule such difference of opinion should be explained either in a note appended to the rule in question or by the printing of the two rules side by side, showing which is which. I trust, however, that we shall be able to arrive at practical unanimity on most points so that the cases where divergence of opinion exists may be very few indeed."

Following the receipt of this letter, the American committee proceeded to prepare its rules for final presentation to the Association and at the annual meeting in May, 1907, two copies of the code, as revised to date, were submitted as exhibits accompanying the annual report of the Committee. The report, embodying a recommendation that the rules be printed, was referred to the Council of the Association, which on May 28th voted as follows:

"That the Council adopt the code of rules as submitted, and that the Catalog Rules Committee be authorized to proceed with such further negotiations as may be necessary in order to harmonize any differences as to details still existing between the British and American committees, and to definitely formulate the rules in final form. Voted further, That the printing and publication of the rules be referred to the incoming Executive Board."

On September 26th, the new Executive Board voted:

"That the printing of the Catalog rules be entrusted to the Publishing Board in accordance with their letters of May 25, 1907, and September 10, 1907, and in conformity with the requirements of the Committee on catalog rules."

The Chairman of the American committee had, in the meantime, attended the annual conference of the Library Association at Glasgow, Scotland, Sept. 16–19, and in a session with the Catalog Rules Revision Committee of that association an agreement was reached on all the rules with the exception of a few which deal with authors and publications that change their names or titles. It was decided that wherever a divergence of opinion existed with respect to a particular rule, both the American and English editions should embody an explanation of the same, either in the form of a note appended to the rule, or by printing the two rules side by side. Final preparations for printing followed these decisions.

Rules. The informal instructions issued to the Committee by the Chairman of the Publishing Board in 1901 called for a code of rules which should be in accord with the system governing the compilation of catalog entries at the Library of Congress. As a result, the question of how far the needs of smaller libraries of a popular character should also be considered came up for immediate consideration. The committee found that under the circumstances its decisions must be guided chiefly by the requirements of larger libraries of a scholarly character; that only incidentally would it be possible to outline modifications or variations of practice suitable for the smaller libraries. Later it was decided that a simplified edition,* specially adapted to the needs of smaller libraries of a popular character, would prove more effective than occasional directions and variations inserted in the main code.

In spite of this determination to omit suggestions intended for the guidance of popular libraries, it will be found that the Committee has permitted itself to present occasional alternatives and exceptions, believing that in certain cases discretion should be left to the individual library.

As an illustration of an alternative or exception, rule 72 may be quoted. This is a general rule which calls for entry of a society under the first word of its name not an article. It has seemed proper that a few exceptions should here be provided; likewise that alternatives should be outlined for the use of libraries which for definite classes of societies may prefer entry under the name of a place or country. Again, when an institution is closely associated with a certain locality by its buildings, or for other reasons, and when its name is not sufficiently distinctive to be easily remembered, entry under the place has been prescribed (rule 82). There is accordingly an attempt to distinguish between societies and associations on the one hand and institutions as limited to permanent establishments with buildings and equipment on the other. The latter class also affords exceptions and variations which it may be well to note here. In the first place, institutions whose names begin with a proper name, e.g. the many universities, etc., which bear the names of founders or other individuals, would almost invariably be thought of under this name rather than that of the place where located. Secondly, entry under a general institution for one which constitutes merely a branch or department of it is in many cases much to be preferred to independent entry under the name or place of location of the subordinate institution. These considerations have caused a series of exceptions to be introduced after the general rule for institutions (cf. 83-99).

While open to the charge of inconsistency, it is the opinion of the Committee that the rules for societies and institutions, as they now stand, will serve to bring the vast majority of these bodies under the heading where they are most likely to be looked for in English and American libraries.

The Committee realizes that these attempts to provide for exceptions and alternatives, as also the occasional use of the word "may" where a more peremptory form of statement might be preferred by many, will afford opportunities for criticism. In view of this fact it is appropriate to repeat here a quotation from Cutter's Rules for a Dictionary Catalog, which at the author's own suggestion was included in the introduction to the Advance edition of these rules in 1902:

"The convenience of the public is always to be set before the ease of the cataloger. In most cases they coincide. A plain rule without exceptions is not only easy for us to carry out, but easy for the public to understand and work by. But strict consistency in a rule and uniformity in its application sometimes lead to practices which clash with the public's habitual way of looking at things. When these habits are general and deeply rooted it is unwise for the cataloger to ignore them, even if they demand a sacrifice of system and simplicity. That [the Committee has] always understood the public's views, estimated correctly its power of changing them, and drawn the line in the right place between a conservative regard for custom and a wish to lead the public towards a desirable simplicity and consistency is too much to assume; but [we] have at least always looked for the reasons on both sides."

Mr. Cutter was, until his last illness, one of the most active members of this committee. His close connection with the work of the revision at a time when the 4th edition of his own rules was in course of preparation had no doubt much to do with bringing about a close agreement between the latter and the new A. L. A. Rules.

Largely on account of this cordial coöperation of the author, it is possible in the present code to refer freely to "Cutter" whenever his rules contain a particularly full statement, or for other reasons ought to be consulted by the cataloger.

In addition to "Cutter's Rules" and the Library of Congress supplementary rules,* other codes are occasionally referred to, more especially the Eclectic

* A few of the Library of Congress supplementary rules have been adopted with but slight modifications; others are printed as notes, this expedient being considered preferable to a reference because of the large number of libraries which are now using the Library of Congress printed cards.
Card Catalog Rules of Linderfelt and the Rules of the Prussian university and government libraries, both of which are largely based on Dziatzko's "Instruction" of 1886.

It is only natural that the Committee should have watched with great interest the efforts made in Germany towards a coördination of cataloging practice in Prussian university and government libraries. It was felt that the Prussian "Gesamtkatalog" might, in course of time, lead to coöperative efforts which would have an important bearing on similar undertakings outside of Germany.

The "Instruktionen für die alphabetischen Kataloge der Preussischen Bibliotheken und für den Preussischen Gesamtkatalog," published in 1899, with its "Erläuterungen, Nächtrage, Beispielzusätze," of 1905, has therefore been freely consulted. While there is little likelihood of agreement on the two fundamental points of difference between German and Anglo-American rules, viz. entry of anonymous books and corporate entry, and while the Committee has not had any correspondence or direct relations with representatives of the German movement, we have felt that it was our duty, nevertheless, in this new revision of the A. L. A. Rules, to take due cognizance of the instructions promulgated by the Ministry of Public Worship of Prussia with reference to the "Gesamtkatalog," and in formulating our own decisions to bear in mind the possibility of future international agreement and coöperation.

Scope of the Rules. Author and title entries only are considered. No directions will therefore be found for added entries or references under subject or form headings.*

Examples.† The examples and illustrations in the first edition are in some instances the result of a hurried selection. It is hoped that librarians will advise the Committee in regard to examples which may be incorporated in a subsequent edition. It is felt that this important feature of the code, as well as the elaboration or modification of the rules themselves, should be made a subject for coöperative effort.

Abbreviations, Capitals. No abbreviations which should require any explanation have been used in the body of the rules. In Appendix i an attempt has been made to supply a list of the abbreviations which are most likely to be needed in the ordinary library catalog. General directions for their use are added.

In view of the considerable diversity found to exist in methods of capitalization, not only in different countries, but among different writers of the same country, the Committee has felt that for the present only general directions should be given, each library to decide for itself how far these directions are to be followed.

There has been added, however, for the use of those who may desire more

* A new edition of the List of Subject Headings now in preparation will to some extent deal with these questions.
† The examples included are of three kinds, viz. 1) author and title examples, imprint and collation as a rule being omitted; 2) examples consisting of headings only; 3) sample cards (Appendix 3). In printing, hanging indentation has been used to differentiate title entries such as periodicals, directories, year-books, etc., from entries with author headings and anonymous title entries.
explicit instructions, a revision of the Library of Congress capitalization rules contained in the A. L. A. Rules, Advance edition of 1902, p. 16–17, which aim to give some idea of the practice followed by the Library of Congress on its printed cards. It should be emphasized that they are intended primarily for the card catalog.

Acknowledgments. First of all, we wish to express our most cordial appreciation of the kindly and generous way in which the British committee has invariably met our suggestions. The spirit in which it has received our proposals is in a large measure responsible for the success which has attended the negotiations.

Furthermore, the Committee would acknowledge its indebtedness to the Prussian "Instruktionen" for many valuable suggestions, particularly in the sections which deal with personal authors.

We desire also to express our thanks to a large number of associates in the A. L. A. who have at various times, by kindly criticism and suggestions, assisted in the advancement of the revision. The following have been particularly active: C. W. Andrews and A. G. S. Josephson, John Crerar Library; Adelaide R. Hasse, Public Library, New York; G. M. Jones, Public Library, Salem, Mass.; W. C. Lane, Harvard University Library; Margaret Mann, Carnegie Library, Pittsburgh, Pa.; Charles Martel, Steingrimur Stefánsson, and W. F. Koenig, Library of Congress; Dr. B. C. Steiner, Enoch Pratt Free Library; M. L. Sutliff, California State Library; Dr. G. E. Wire, Worcester Co. Law Library, Worcester, Mass.

In addition to the loss of Mr. Cutter, referred to above, the Committee in 1905 suffered through the resignation, on account of illness, of one of its most valued members, Mrs. S. C. Fairchild, who had served on the Committee since its organization in 1901. Her associates are anxious to testify to the valuable assistance rendered by her at all times and regret that she was unable to share in their concluding labors.

In the preparation of rules for Oriental writers, the Committee has had the assistance of Dr. Gottheil, of Columbia University, Dr. Hyvernat, of the Catholic University of America, Professors Lanman and Toy, of Harvard University, and Dr. Littmann, now of the University of Strassburg.

To the assistants in the Catalog Division, Library of Congress, who have assisted the Chairman in his work of editing the Rules, much credit is due. In proofreading, preparation of copy, and selection of examples, they have rendered valuable assistance. That it was possible to submit to the Annual Conference of 1907 printed proofs of the Rules as revised to date, was due largely to their cooperation and to that of the foreman of the Branch Printing Office at the Library, Mr. W. H. Fisher, and the head of the Proofreading section of the Catalog Division, Miss E. A. Runner.

The Chairman is particularly indebted to Miss Mary M. Melcher and Miss Julia Gregory, also of the Catalog Division, for assistance in reading the proofs of the final edition, and for the preparation of the index.
DEFINITIONS OF TERMS AS USED IN THE RULES*

Added entry. A secondary entry, i.e. any other than the main entry. (cf. Main entry) There may be added entries for editor, translator, title, subjects, etc.

Where printed cards are used an added entry is a duplicate of the main entry, with the addition of a special heading. In a written card catalog added entries are generally given in an abbreviated form, the title being abridged and the imprint and collation omitted wholly or in part.

Alternative title. A subtitle introduced by "or" or its equivalent; e.g. Hypatia; or, New foes with an old face.

Analytical entry. The entry of some part of a book or of some article contained in a collection (volume of essays, serial, etc.) including a reference to the publication which contains the article or work entered. (For form of entry see p. 79-80, Sample cards)

Anonymous. A book is considered anonymous if the author's name does not appear in the book itself.

Author. 1 The writer of a book, as distinguished from translator, editor, etc.
2 In a broader sense, the maker of the book or the person or body immediately responsible for its existence. Binder's title. The title lettered on the back of a book by the binder, as distinguished from the title on the publisher's original binding or cover. (cf. Cover-title)

Caption. The heading at the beginning of the text or of a chapter, section, etc.

Caption title. The title taken from the caption.

Catalog (of books) A list of books, usually arranged according to some definite plan. As distinguished from a bibliography, it is a list of books in some library or collection. (For definitions of various kinds of book catalogs see Cutter's Rules)

Collation. That part of the description which specifies the volumes, pages, illustrations, plates, maps, etc., constituting the book.

Collection. A number of works or parts of works, considered as constituting a whole, e.g. a collection of monographs, a collection of essays, etc.

Colophon. A statement at the end of a book giving the title, writer's, and printer's or publisher's name, and date and place of printing. Frequently one or more of these items is omitted; again there may be in addition the printer's or publisher's device.

* The definitions here given occasionally differ somewhat from those found for the same terms in dictionaries and similar reference books.
Compiler. One who produces a work by collecting and putting together written or printed matter from various sources.

Compound name. A name formed from two or more proper names, often connected by a hyphen, a conjunction, or a preposition.

Continuation. 1 A work published as a supplement to one previously issued. 2 A part issued in continuance of a serial or a book.

Corporate entry. Entry under the names of bodies or organizations for works published in their name or by their authority.

Cover-title. The title printed on the original covers of a book or lettered on the publisher's binding, as distinguished from the title lettered on the back of a particular copy of the book by the binder. (cf. Binder's title)

Date. 1 Imprint date. The year of publication as specified on the title-page. 2 Copyright date. The date of copyright as given in the book, as a rule on the back of the title-page. 3 Preface date. The date given at the beginning or end of the preface. 4 Colophon date. The date given in the colophon.

Dissertation, Academic. An essay or treatise presented by a candidate in partial fulfillment of the requirements for a degree. (cf. Program dissertations)

Edition. The whole number of copies printed from the same set of types and issued at the same time.

Editor. One who prepares for publication a work or collection of works not his own. The editorial labor may be limited to the preparation of the matter for the printer, or it may include supervision of the printing, revision (restitution) or elucidation of the text, and the addition of introductions, notes and other critical matter.

Entry. The record of a book in a catalog or list. See also Main entry, Added entry, Title entry, Analytical entry, Series entry.

Entry word. The word by which the entry is arranged in the catalog. The first word of the heading. (cf. Heading)

Folio. 1 Size: according to the American Library Association scale, a book above 30 cm. in height. 2 Format: a book printed on sheets folded once, making two leaves, or four pages. 3 The separate leaves of a book, as folio 1, folio 2, etc., whether numbered or unnumbered; or the whole number, as 10, 50, 100 folios, etc.

Frontispiece. A plate or other illustration facing (or preceding) the title-page. Sometimes used to designate an engraved title-page.

Half-title. A brief title, usually without author’s name or imprint, printed on a leaf preceding the main title-page; called also bastard title.

Head-line. The line at the top of the page giving the title of the book or the subject of the chapter or of the page. (cf. Running title, Caption)

In a card catalog the main entry card contains (generally on the back) a record of all the other entries made for the work in question.

Periodical. A publication intended to appear in successive numbers or parts at more or less regular intervals and, as a rule, for an indefinite time. Each part properly contains matter on a variety of topics, generally by several contributors.

Newspapers, and the Memoirs, Proceedings, Journals, etc. of societies are not considered regular periodicals under the rules.

2 A "separate," i. e. an article from a serial publication or a collection, separately issued, whether printed from the forms or plates of the original or from type actually reset.
Running title. The title repeated at the top of each page of the book or of a section.

2 Joint author entry. Enter a work written jointly by two authors (including correspondence) under the name of the one first mentioned on the title-page, followed by the name of the second, in the form, Besant, Sir Walter, and Rice, James.* When there are more than two authors use the form Doe, John, and others; give the names of the others in the title if there are no more than three, or if more than three, in a note or in the contents. Make added entries or references for the second and following authors. (Cutter, 3, 4, 218)

Cheston, Henry Clifford, and others. Physics, theoretical and descriptive, by Henry C. Cheston ... J. Stewart Gibson ... and Charles E. Timmerman ...

3 Dissertations. Enter dissertations published before 1800 under the praeses as praeses. Make an added entry under the respondent when he is known to be the author. The word praeses or respondent is to be added in the heading. Treat in the same way the later dissertations of certain universities at which the old custom continued after 1800 (e.g. the Swedish and Finnish, and of the German particularly Tübingen)

Mosheim, Johann Lorenz, 1694?–1755, praeses. Historia Michaelis Serveti ...

Diss.—Helmstedt (Heinrich von Allwoorden, respondent and author)

Added entry: Allwoorden, Heinrich von, b. 1703, respondent.

* On the Library of Congress printed cards the name of the first author only is given in the heading.
If two respondents are named without a praeses, and without designating the author, enter under the first and make added entry under the second.

(Cutter, 6. Eclectic, 169-174. Wheatley's How to catalogue a library, p. 105-121)

Library of Congress supplementary rule 13

The title-pages of dissertations generally embody a more or less uniform statement in regard to the faculty or institution before which the thesis is presented, and of the degree for which its author is a candidate. It is unnecessary to repeat this statement in full in every title. The essential parts can best be given in a note. If the author has added a sketch of his life, this is also to be mentioned in a note. (See examples)

The title is to be given in the briefest form, omitting author's name, etc. . . . If the dissertation is a text edited by a candidate for a degree and is entered under the author or title of that text, the name of the editor (author of the dissertation) is not to be omitted . . . Examples illustrating form of entry and of the note of thesis, dissertation, etc.:

1 Earlier dissertations.

Diss.—Wittenberg (P. C. Scheibler, respondent)

Reinharth, Tobias Jacob, 1684-1743, praeses. . . De rerum vxiariarvm marito traditariarvm favore, et qvilvsdam cavtionibvs earvm cvsa attendsndis . . . Erfordiae, typis J. C. Heringii (1732)

Note. If there are two universities in a city they are to be distinguished by their respective names (e.g., Thèse — Univ. de Paris. Thèse — Institut catholique, Paris). For French theses from 1808 to July 10, 1896, note should read: Thèse — Faculté de droit de Paris; Thèse — Faculté des lettres de Nancy, etc. Consult Minerva and Catalogue des theses.

* The authorship of the respondent is in many cases difficult to establish. His designation on the title-page as "auctor" is not to be accepted implicitly as proof of authorship in the strict sense of the word; and the phrase "and author" must therefore be queried in doubtful cases. cf. E. Horn, Die disputationen u. promotionen a. d. deutschen universitäten, Centralblatt f. bibliothekswesen, xi. heiblatt (1863) and G. Kaufmann, Zur geschichte der academischen grade und disputationen, Centralblatt f. bibli., xi. bd. (1894) p. 201-225.

41 Married women. Enter a married woman under her latest name unless she has consistently written under an earlier one (either her maiden name or the name of a former husband) In either case refer from the name not selected as entry word.

* The Library of Congress enters under pseudonym a few authors who, besides having written exclusively under their pseudonyms, are decidedly better known in literary history by their assumed than by their real names.

Eliot, George, pseud. of Marian Evans, afterwards Cross. George Eliot’s life as related in her letters and journals, arranged and edited by her husband, J. W. Cross ...

Added entry: Cross, John Walter, ed.

An exception is also made in the case of two or more authors who have written together under one pseudonym, when for practical reasons entry under the pseudonym is often preferable.

Tilton, Dwight, pseud. of George Tilton Richardson and Wilder Dwight Quint. On Satan’s mount, by Dwight Tilton ... illustrations by Charles H. Stephens.
PERSONAL AUTHORS: UNDER WHAT PART OR FORM OF NAME

The heading is to consist of (a) husband’s surname, (b) her own forenames, and (c) her maiden name, when known, in parenthesis.

Jackson, Mrs. Helen Maria (Fiske) Hunt.
Soyaux, Frau Frieda (Schanz)

Robinson, Agnes Mary Frances, afterwards Mrs. James Darmesteter, afterwards Mme. Duclaux, with references from Darmesteter, Mrs. James, and Duclaux, Mme.

42 Variations due to language, transliteration, etc. When a person regularly uses a foreign form of his name, enter under this form.

Leschetizky, Theodor, not Leszetycki, Teodor.
Tschermak, Gustav, not Cermak.

This practice applies to authors whose works have originally appeared in a foreign or adopted tongue, and whose names may therefore be given in the form thus adopted by them.

Follow this practice also in the case of transliterated names, if the author has himself consistently used a particular form when among foreigners, or is always known by a transliteration differing from the one provided for in these rules.

Rangabé, not Rankabēs.
Vlachos, not Blachos.

(cf. Appendix 2; also Eclectic, 377–383)

Agricola, Rudolf, not Bauer.
Xylander, Wilhelm, not Holtzmann.
Melanchthon, Philipp, not Schwarzerd.
Oecolampadius, Johannes, not Haussehein.

On the other hand, enter under the original name when it has become firmly established, through the author’s own usage or otherwise, so that he is known by that rather than by the adopted name.

Reuchlin, Johann, not Capnion.

In either case refer from the form of name not adopted as entry word.
44 Post-reformation and modern writers known under a Latin form. Post-reformation and modern writers whose names are found both in a Latin form and in the vernacular are to be entered under the Latin form whenever this is decidedly better known. Reference is to be made from the vernacular.

GREEK, LATIN, AND ORIENTAL WRITERS

49 Ancient Greek writers. Enter ancient Greek authors under the Latin form of their names and refer from the English and occasionally from the Greek form. In selecting the proper entry word for the names of ancient Greeks follow the practice of the classical dictionaries (Smith’s Dictionary of Greek and Roman biography; Engelmann’s Bibliotheca scriptorum classicorum; Harper’s Dictionary of classical literature and antiquities)

Homerus, with reference from Homer.
Aeschylus, with reference from Aischylos.

* Library of Congress enters sovereigns of nations not using alphabets in roman or gothic characters under the English form, e.g. Paul I, emperor of Russia (not Pavel I); Catharine II, empress of Russia (not Ekaterina II) 50 Byzantine writers. Enter Byzantine authors under the personal or baptismal name in the Latin form. A reference is usually to be made from the surname, especially when it becomes a family name. (Instruktionen, 58)

English form whenever the latter differs from the original.

52 Oriental writers: Arabic, Turkish, etc. Arabic and other writers (especially Turkish and Persian) living in Mohammedan countries and following Mohammedan practice, are to be entered under the personal name, followed by the names expressing relationship (compounds with abū, father, ibn, son, etc.)
and by any special name or names derived either from the author’s place of birth or from some circumstance connected with his life and character. The portion of the name preceding the personal name is to be transposed in the heading similarly to the transposition of Christian forenames. References are to be made from each of the various names.*

The article al is always to be written out, but is to be ignored in the arrangement when it precedes the name under which entry is made.†

*Muḥammad ibn Zakariyā, Abū Bakr, al-Rāzī, with references from Abū Bakr Muḥammad ibn Zakariyā, al-Rāzī; al-Rāzī; Rāzī; Rhases.

far ibn al-Tufail, al-Iṣbīlī; Ibn al-Tufail; al-Iṣbīlī.

 Exceptions are to be made where a name other than the personal name more readily distinguishes the author, or where a particular form of the name has become established in western literature.

Abū al-Wafā, al-Buzjānī, with references from Muḥammad ibn Muḥammad, 53 Hebrew writers. Hebrew writers prior to the 19th century, unless decidaedly better known under a European form of name, are to be entered under the given name of the author followed by that of his father or by some designation referring to the city of his birth or residence, to his profession, or to his catalogs of the British museum.

indicate its connection with the name.
rank. When the proper names of Hebrew writers begin with ben, abi, or ab, these should begin the heading, as they form an integral part of these names. The same holds true of bar in Syriac names.

The article is always to be written ha-. When this precedes the name of the writer it is to be ignored in the arrangement.*

A Hebrew writer who has written both in Hebrew and in Arabic is to be entered under his Hebrew designation with reference from the Arabic name.

Refer from the various forms in which the names of many Hebrew writers have become current. The Biblical names are to be given, as far as possible, in the form in which they appear in the authorized version.

Israel ben Eliezer, Ba’al-Shem Tob, called Besht, with references from Besht, Israel ben Eliezer, called; Ba’al-Shem Tob, Israel ben Eliezer.

Judah, ha-Levi, with references from Jehuda Halevi; Halevi, Judah.

Maimonides, with references from Moses ben Maimon; Rambam.

Leo Hebraeus, with reference from Abranavel, Judah.

54 Indic names.

Mahâdeva Govinda Rânade, with references from Rânade, Mahâdeva Govinda; Govinda Rânade, Mahâdeva.

Where family names have been adopted according to western usage, enter under the family name and refer from the personal name.

Dutt, Romesh Chunder, with reference from Romesh Chunder Dutt.

55 Other Oriental names.

Oriental names not provided for above (cf. 52–54) are usually treated like the Indic, except when, like the Armenian, they are formed according to western usage; in that case they are to be treated like modern family names, e.g. Hagopian, Hovhan.

56 Oriental names known under western forms.

Oriental names for which particular forms have become firmly established in western literature are to be entered under these forms with reference from the original.

Confucius, with references from Kung-Kew; Kung Fu-tze.

† Library of Congress printed cards follow in the main the form of heading adopted in the catalogs of the British museum.
c) CORPORATE BODIES AS AUTHORS

GOVERNMENT PUBLICATIONS

Specification. Governments (states, provinces, municipalities, ecclesiastical, military, or judicial districts) are to be considered as authors of their official publications.

58 General rule. Enter under names of countries, states, cities, towns, etc.* official publications issued by them or under their auspices. The names of the departments, bureaus, etc. from which the publications emanate are to be given as subheadings.

Prussia. Ministerium des innern.
U. S. Department of state.

In the entry of government publications, use for a subheading the name of the office rather than the title of the officer, e.g. Bureau of education, not Commissioner of education. (Cutter, 53)

Make a general reference from the name of the head of a department to the name of the office.

Wilson, James, see also U. S. Department of agriculture.

Occasionally the title of the officer is the only name of the office. In that case it is to be adopted as subheading.

Illinois. State entomologist.

The name of the occupant of the office, preceded by the dates of his incumbency, may be added to such subheadings as President, Governor, Mayor, etc., in order to bring together the publications issued during a given administration.

U. S. President, 1789-1797 (Washington)

59 Bureaus or offices subordinate to a department. Enter government bureaus or offices subordinate to a department directly under the country, not as subheadings under the department.

U. S. Bureau of insular affairs, with references from U. S. Insular affairs, Bureau of.
U. S. War department. Bureau of insular affairs.
Italy. Direzione generale dei telegrafi, with references from Italy. Telegrafi. Direzione generale dei.
Italy. Ministero dei lavori pubblici. Direzione generale dei telegrafi.
Italy. Ministero delle poste e dei telegrafi. Direzione generale dei telegrafi.

The Publishing board and Library of Congress enter names of departments, bureaus, etc. in their direct form. Many libraries will prefer the inverted form, e.g. U. S. Education, Bureau of; Massachusetts. Agriculture, State board of. (cf. U. S. Supt. of documents. Author headings for U. S. public documents, 1903)

Still another form has been adopted in Bowker’s “State publications.” vis.

New Hampshire. [Agriculture] Board of agriculture.
Vermont. [Insane] Supervisors of the insane.

A fourth plan which offers advantages, particularly for a printed card catalog, is to print the distinctive word or words of the subheading in a special type (e. g. gothic) This affords

* In the English form. cf. 130, Geographic headings.
a choice as to arrangement (under first word or under catchword) without requiring any changes in the heading.

U. S. Bureau of education.

Minor divisions and offices are usually to be subordinated to the bureaus or departments of which they form a part.

U. S. Department of agriculture. Division of botany.
U. S. Bureau of animal industry. Dairy division.
U. S. Library of Congress. Division of documents.

60 Reports not by an official. Enter under the writer reports made to a department by a person who is not an official, with added entry under the name of the department.

This rule may be applied also in dealing with publications of private firms or companies, the main entry usually being made under the name of the firm when the compiler or editor is a regular official and the work of compilation or editing is a part of his official duties. On the other hand, main entry is made under the individual when it is known that the work is his own private publication. In either case, added entry or reference is made under the party not selected as main heading.

61 Collection or series of reports. Enter a collection or series of reports to a department, by different persons, under the department. If the importance or manner of publication of the single reports warrants it, make an added entry or analytical for each under the author’s name, even if he is an official. No added entry need be made under the name of an official for a report of strictly administrative or routine character (cf. 58, a)

62 Laws. Enter laws (including general collections, codes, laws on particular subjects, single acts, etc.) under the name of the country or state, with added entry under the name of the compiler or editor.

Headings are to follow the form prescribed in A. R. Hasse’s “U. S. government publications,” e.g. U. S. Statutes, rather than U. S. Congress.

U. S. Statutes. Revised statutes of the United States, passed at the first session of the Forty-third Congress, 1873–74 ... Edited, printed, and published under the authority of an act of Congress, and under the direction of the secretary of state.

* Library of Congress uses subheading Laws, statutes, etc.

Examples:

a) Collections:

   Gt. Brit. Laws, statutes, etc.

b) Laws (single laws or collections) promulgated during a given reign:

   Gt. Brit. Laws, statutes, etc., 1837–1901 (Victoria)

c) Single laws of the United States:

   U. S. Laws, statutes, etc., 1889–1890 (51st Cong., 1st sess.)

Instead of adding to the heading for single laws the inclusive years of a reign, administration or session, libraries that prefer a strictly chronological arrangement should add the exact year of enactment.
A general reference should be made from the name of the legislative body, e. g. U. S. Congress. [Laws] see U. S. Statutes.

Cutter, 3d ed., 41, and Eclectic, 183–184, also enter acts, laws, etc. under country or state, but with the name of the legislative body as subdivision, e. g. U. S. Congress; Great Britain. Parliament; Massachusetts. General court.

The latter plan offers an alternative which may be preferred by those who object to the subdivisions suggested under the main rule on the ground that they introduce form or subject entries into the author catalog. Libraries which have extensive collections of laws, particularly of foreign laws, will, however, find it simpler to follow the main rule. Attempts to arrange all legislative enactments of a country under the name of the legislative body or the ruling power, the names of which are in some countries subject to frequent changes, are likely to prove perplexing and unsatisfactory.

Headings for city ordinances are to follow the form prescribed in A. R. Hasse’s “U. S. government publications,” e. g. Brooklyn. Ordinances.

63 Digests of laws, compilations, etc. When the original text of the laws digested or annotated has been quoted only in part, or in a fragmentary manner, or when the contribution of the digester or annotator forms the main feature of the book, enter under the digester with added entry or reference under the name of the country.

In doubtful cases enter as in 62, viz. main entry under country, added entry under digester or annotator.

Manresa y Navarro, José María. Comentarios al Código civil español, por D. José María Manresa y Navarro... con la colaboracion de varios jurisconsultos...

Added entry: Spain. Statutes.

64 Law reports. Enter reports of a single court under its name with added entry under the name of the reporter, editor, or collector, as the case may be.

The form of heading is to be:

1 Name of country, state, or province (city or town in the case of local courts)
2 Name of court.

New York (State) Court of appeals. Transcript appeals... The file of opinions in cases argued before the Court of appeals of the state of New York, during the January term, 1867 – June term, 1868. From official copies certified by Joel Tiffany, state reporter.

Added entry: Tiffany, Joel.

65 Digests of reports. Enter digests of reports under the digester: if anonymous, under the title. Make added entry under the name of the court or judge whenever the digest is limited to the reports of a particular court, and under the title of the collection or set of reports digested, provided it is frequently referred to by its title.

Morrison, Robert Stewart. Colorado digest; containing the decisions of the Supreme court, Court of appeals and federal courts of the state as reported in volumes 1–25 Colorado reports, 1–13 Court of appeals reports, the contemporaneous Pacific reporters, 1–100 Federal reporters, 101–178 U. S. reports, and local reports, with table of cases digested, with their citations, and table of overruled cases, by R. S. Morrison...
66 Opinions, decisions, charges. Enter a single opinion, decision, or charge under the name of the court, with added entries under the name of the judge, parties to the suit, or other headings, as the case may require (cf. note on added entries under 132, Civil actions)

Refer from Paris, Treaty of, 1763.

* Library of Congress gives subheading in the vernacular, e.g. Switzerland. Bundesverfassung.

† In a dictionary catalog a form or subject entry usually takes the place of a reference.
In order to secure a chronological arrangement of the single treaties under a particular country, the date of each treaty is to be added to the subheading. (See also Library of Congress supplementary rule 8, below)

2 Collections. Enter collections of treaties of several countries under the compiler. (cf. 126)

Rockhill, William Woodville, ed. Treaties and conventions with or concerning China and Korea, 1894-1904, together with various state papers and documents affecting foreign interests. Ed. by William Woodville Rockhill...

3 Collections of the treaties of a particular country with one or more other countries are to be entered under the name of the country which is a party to all the treaties, even though it is not the one mentioned first on the title-page.

U. S. Treaties. ... Compilation of treaties in force. Prepared under resolution of the Senate, of February 11, 1904.

Prepared under the direction of the Committee on foreign relations, United States Senate, by William M. Malloy.

Added entries are to be made, when necessary, for the countries, with subheadings: Dept. of state; Foreign office; Ministère des affaires étrangères, etc.; and for editors, compilers, translators, etc.

The entries under the different countries are to be arranged in two general groups: 1. Collections. 2. Chronological series. (cf. British museum Catalogue — England, col. 207-343)

American state historical, agricultural, and medical societies,* and benevolent, moral, and similar societies, purely local, for which entry under the place is prescribed in both Cutter and the A. L. A. Rules, Advance ed., are not considered sufficiently distinct or well-defined to warrant their exception from the general rule. For libraries which prefer to continue the practice of entering them under the place, the following alternatives may be suggested:

a) American state societies.
   1. Enter American state historical, agricultural, and medical societies, whether supported by the state or not, under the name of the state. (cf. Cutter, 80. A. L. A. Rules, Advance ed., 28)
   2. Enter all American state societies (historical, agricultural, medical, horticultural, entomological, etc.) whether supported by the state or not, under the name of the state.

INSTITUTIONS (ESTABLISHMENTS)

Specification. This includes colleges, universities, schools, libraries, mercantile libraries, museums, galleries, observatories, laboratories, churches, monasteries, convents, hospitals, asylums, prisons, theaters, chambers of commerce, botanical and zoological gardens, buildings, etc.

82 General rule. Enter an institution under the name of the place in which it is located.

Boston. Public library.

London. Chamber of commerce.

Paris. Musée national du Louvre, with references from Musée national du Louvre, Paris; Louvre, Musée national du, Paris.
Exceptions, and special rules for particular classes of institutions*

Corcoran art gallery, Washington.
Enoch Pratt free library, Baltimore.
John Crerar library, Chicago.
A. K. Smiley public library, Redlands, Cal.
Smithsonian institution.
Boston atheneum.
Victoria and Albert museum, South Kensington.

Two modifications of this rule have been suggested:
1 To extend the rule to include all institutions whose names are distinctive.
2 To limit the scope of the rule by making it apply only to institutions of the British empire and the United States; foreign institutions would therefore be entered under the place even if their names begin with a proper noun or adjective.

84 Colleges or professional schools of a university. Enter the colleges of a British university and the professional schools which form an integral part of an American university under the name of the university, with the name of the college or school as subheading. Refer from the name of the college or school.

Yale university. Sheffield scientific school.
St. Andrews university. University college, Dundee.
Cornell university. Sibley college of mechanical engineering and the mechanic arts.

Professional schools whose names begin with a proper noun or adjective may be entered under their own names, particularly if they are situated at a distance from the university of which they form a part, have merely a nominal connection with it, or for other reasons are unlikely to be looked for under its name. Cases in point are some of the American schools which, originally independent, have later affiliated with or become departments of a university.

Columbia university. Observatory.

* While some of the special rules which follow are inconsistent with the principle laid down in rule 83, it has nevertheless seemed best to enter certain classes of institutions (e.g. churches, monasteries, observatories, public schools, Carnegie libraries, etc.) under place, in conformity with the general rule (82) even though their names begin with a proper noun or adjective.

Exceptions to both 82 and 83 are recommended in certain cases, where the affiliation of one institution with another is of such a nature that entry under the general institution is clearly to be preferred either to entry under the name of the subordinate institution or under the place where it is located. cf. 84, 85, 89b, 94, 95.

† Library of Congress enters a foreign institution whose name begins with a national adjective under the name of the place where it is located.

National institutions (often designated as Imperial, Royal, National, and the like) which include in their names the name of the country, and therefore tend to become better known by the name of the country than by that of the city or town where they are located, are to be entered under the name of the country. 92 Agricultural experiment stations (U. S.)* Enter agricultural experiment stations of the United States under the name of the state or territory in which they are organized. Include in the heading the name of the place where the station is located. The adjective denoting royal privilege, etc. is to be abbreviated and disregarded in arrangement, except in English names (cf. 78, Learned academies)

Christiania. Universitet, with reference from Kongelige Frederiks universitet, Christiania.

99 Carnegie and similar public libraries. Enter Carnegie, Passmore-Edwards, and similar public libraries under the name of the place, and refer from the name of the library.

The reason for this exception to an exception (cf. 83) is that the Carnegie and to a less extent the Passmore-Edwards and similar libraries, because of their number as well as the nature of their grants and endowments, tend to become much better known, at least outside of their own immediate neighborhood, by the name of the city in which they are located, than by their own names. Where only the building is a private donation, the library being otherwise endowed and supported by public taxation, the presumption is particularly strong in favor of entry under the place.

When, however, the successive parts appear at long intervals — annually, biennially, etc. — or when the publication contains only the regular proceedings, transactions, and annual reports of the society, it is to be entered under the name of the latter, with added entry or reference under the title if it is distinctive. When a periodical ceases to be published, the information contained on the card specified under 5 is transferred to the blank line provided for that purpose on card 1, the former card being canceled. On the other hand, if a periodical continues under a new name, the cards containing bibliographical notes and statement of what is in the library are placed after the new title. Under the old title there remains the usual brief entry, referring for continuation to the new name. In current titles the last date and the statement of the number of volumes are written in pencil.

* On the Library of Congress printed cards only the first party to the suit is given in the heading.
136 Title. The title is usually to be given in full, including the author’s name, and is to be an exact transcript of the title-page, except that mottoes and non-essential matter of any kind, as well as designation of series,* may be omitted, the omissions being indicated by three dots (...) The punctuation of the title-page is generally to be followed; if there is no punctuation it is to be supplied (cf. 173)

For a written card catalog the title may be abridged.

137 Titles of rare books. Give the title or colophon of books of exceptional rarity or curiosity in full, reproducing, as far as possible, punctuation, capitalization, and typographical peculiarities. (Cutter, 351)

138 Misprints or errors of spelling. Indicate misprints or obvious errors of spelling by 1 or sic.

The beginning end (?) end of drinking.

In a manuscript catalog use three dots (...) under the word misspelled.

139 Additions to title. Additional matter may be supplied (within brackets) in the title when this is ambiguous or requires explanation. Such additions should be brief and in the language of the title; if they require much space, they are to be given in the form of a note. (cf. 168, Notes)

140 Language of the book. State in a note, or within brackets in the title, the language or languages in which a book is written, when the fact is not apparent from the title.

141 Transliteration and translation of title. Titles in characters other than roman or gothic may be transliterated. A brief translation may also be added of all titles not in the classic, Romance or Teutonic languages.

142 Titles of works (other than periodicals) in more than one volume. Works in more than one volume (other than periodicals) are, as a rule, to be cataloged from the title-page of the first volume, subsequent changes being explained in notes or shown in contents. (cf. 113)

143 Same work published under different titles. If a book has been published under two or more titles, make full entry for each of the editions in the library! and give in a note under each entry the other title or titles under which the book has appeared. If the library has but one of the editions, make full entry under this title and refer from the others.2 (Eclectic, 288–300)

* cf. 166, Series note.

2 Meredith, George. Emilia in England.
   Afterwards issued under title: Sandra Belloni.

Meredith, George. Sandra Belloni.
   See his Emilia in England. (The same work published under a different title)

144 Books with several title-pages. If a book has several title-pages, select the most general, and give the others, if necessary, in a note or as contents.

This rule applies only when the title-pages come under the same heading. If the several title-pages require separate entry (as when one is the title of a series, the other that of a work in the series) each title will be used under its own heading.

Of an engraved and a printed title-page the latter is usually to be preferred, and always when it bears a later date.

Of two title-pages equally general choose the first when one follows the other, the second when they face each other.

(Cutter, 156-158)

145 Titles and title-pages in different languages. Of titles and title-pages in different languages, if only one is in roman characters, use that; if both or neither are in roman, use the one in the original language. Mention in a note the unused title.

In the case of Greek classics with the title in Greek and also in Latin on the same title-page, give both titles.

Library of Congress supplementary rule 20

1 Title-pages and text in two or more languages.
   Of title-pages in different languages, with text likewise in more than one language, choose the one which is printed in roman or gothic characters. When neither title-page is printed in roman or gothic, or when both are in one or the other of these types, select the one which is in the original language. When the original language cannot be ascertained, the main title-page is to be chosen, or, when that cannot be determined, the first. Mention in a note the other title or titles and the languages of the text.

   The added title is to be quoted when it contains additional information of importance.

2 Title-pages in different languages, text in one language.
   When there are two title-pages with text in only one language, the title-page which agrees with the text is to be followed. Exceptions to this are Greek, Russian, Oriental, and occasionally also American Indian texts with title-pages in the original and also in Latin, French, English or some other language which employs roman or gothic characters. Here the title in roman or gothic is always to be selected. Mention in a note the other title and the language of the text.

3 One title-page with titles in two languages.
   When the title is printed in two languages on the same title-page (there being but one) give both titles with the customary abbreviations and notes.

   Exception: When one of the titles is in a language which employs characters other than roman or gothic, it is to be omitted, only the title which is in roman or gothic type being then given. A note is to be made of the other title and the language or languages of the text.

   In early and rare books, or when some material variation exists between the two titles, both are to be given.

   When there are more than two titles, give the first two which are printed in roman or gothic type. If one of the succeeding titles is in English, this also is to be given.

4 Arrangements or combinations of titles and title-pages in different languages not provided for in rules 1-3 are to be submitted for special decision.
146 Reprints with two title-pages. When a reprint includes, in addition to its own title-page, a reproduction of that of the original, follow the title-page of the reprint, and mention the other in a note, giving place and date of publication and quoting the title if it differs from that of the reprint.

Macropedius, Georgius. ... Rebelles und Alvta. Hrsg. von Johannes Bolte ... Berlin, 1897. Reprint of the original edition with reproduction of t.-p.: Comicarvm fabvlarum Georgii Macropedii duae ... quar. altera Rebelles, altera Alvta inscribitur ... [Busciducis] in officina Hatardi (1535)

147 Title-page wanting. When the title-page is lost, supply the title from some bibliographical source, citing the authority in a note. If the title cannot be ascertained, give the half-title, running title, or colophon, and state in a note which has been selected; if there is no half-title, running title, or colophon, supply a title (within brackets) and give in a note the beginning of the text and a brief description of contents.

In the case of a book published without a title-page, give the half-title, running title, caption title, or colophon, as the case may be, stating in a note the form in which the title occurs.

148 Edition. Consider the statement specifying the edition as a part of the title. It is to be given in the language of the book and in the order of the title-page, except that customary abbreviations may be used.* (Cutter, 254–256)

Minor differentiations between copies of the same edition, e.g. 8th thousand, may be omitted.

149 Different editions represented in the same set. When the volumes in a set are of different editions, specify the various editions in a note or in contents, not in the title.

IMPRINT, COLLATION, SERIES NOTE

150 Place of publication. After the title give the place or places of publication in the language of the title.

151 Place — Form of name. When thought desirable, add (in brackets) modern equivalents and familiar forms of latinized or vernacular names. (See Deschamps, Dictionnaire de géographie ancienne et moderne; † Graesse, Orbis latinus; Stein, Manuel de bibliographie générale, app. 1; Chevalier, Répertoire des sources historiques du moyen âge: Topo-bibliographie).

152 Publisher. After the name of the place give the name of the publisher in the language of the title.

C. Scribner’s sons; L. Hachette et cie; Junge & sohn.

In a written card catalog the place and publisher’s name may generally be abbreviated.

* cf. 174, Figures. † Supplement to Brunet’s “Manuel du libraire.”
153 Place of printing. After the place of publication and publisher the place of printing and printer may be given, if different. This is desirable only in rare and old books, or when of special significance for other reasons.

London, N. Trübner [Colombo, S. J. A. Skee, printer]
Paris, Dentu [Guernsey, Imprimerie universelle]

154 Privately printed books. In cataloging privately printed books add the abbreviation "priv. print." in the imprint if the fact is not evident from the title-page.

155 Date. Give the date found on the title-page, in arabic figures except in cases where the form in which it appears is characteristic of a special edition or otherwise worthy of note. Dates other than those of the Christian era are to be given as found on the title-page, followed by the date of the Christian era, the latter in brackets if supplied. (Cutter, 264—275. cf. also rule 174, Figures)

156 Date wanting. When there is no imprint date the year of publication, if it can be ascertained, is to be given in brackets, and if uncertain, to be given approximately.

(189—?), [189—], [1892?]

If no approximate date can be found, give the century in which the book was published, e.g. (18—)

If the century cannot be determined, indicate the absence of a date by the abbreviation "n.d."

In the case of books frequently reissued without date or printed from plates bearing date of earlier (first) edition, the fact of reissue is to be indicated by a note giving date of first publication of that edition.

Maupassant, Guy de. ... Contes du jour et de la nuit ... Paris, E. Flammarion [n. d.]

First edition appeared in 1885.

157 Copyright date. When there is no date on the title-page of a copyrighted book, and the date of publication or issue cannot be ascertained, give in the imprint the date of copyright, preceded by a superior "c" and bracketed.

New York, H. Holt & co. [c1894]

If the date of the copyright entry is earlier than the date of issue, the former need be given only in exceptional cases; for instance, when the existence and date of an earlier (first) issue or edition have not been definitely established, or when a more precise date cannot be given.

When the title-page is dated, write: 1902 [c1899]
When the title-page is not dated, but bears copyright notice, write: [1902] c1878.
The imprint is to be given in the following order: 1st, place; 2d, publisher, printer, or bookseller; 3d, date.

Certain works such as incunabula and the like are excepted, when for special reasons the imprint is best given in a form and order suited to the peculiarities of the case.

The actual imprint, if ascertainable, is always to be given, whether it appears on the title-page or not. In the latter case it is to be added in brackets after the imprint as found on the title-page.

1 Books published in the United States.—When more than two places and publishers are named on the title-page, give the first-named place and publisher, followed by one other, the choice of the latter being determined by the relative importance of the several places and publishers, New York or Boston to be preferred.

Examples:

When the title-page reads
Published by J. A. Bancroft & co., Philadelphia, J. W. Schermerhorn & co.,
New York, C. G. Cooke, Boston, Hendricks & Potter, St. Louis, Speakman & Proctor, Chicago, 1867.

But if the title-page reads
Leach, Shewell & Sanborn, Boston, New York, Chicago, 1890.

Give: Boston, New York (etc.) Leach, Shewell & Sanborn, 1890.

Or if the title-page reads
Buffalo, Chicago, New York, Charles Wells Moulton, 1890.

Give: Buffalo, New York (etc.) C. W. Moulton, 1890.

2 Books published abroad.—When more than one place and publisher are named on the title-page, give the first, followed by (etc., etc.) unless one of the others, usually distinguished by position or type, is known to be the actual place of publication. In that case the latter is to be given first.

When, in addition to the foreign places named on the title-page, one or more places in the United States are given, the cataloger shall include one of the latter, preferably New York.

Examples:

When the title-page reads

Give: Paris, Goupil & cie; (etc., etc.) 1898.

When the title-page reads
London, David Nutt, Dulau & co., Sampson Low & co. Agencies for America:
New York, E. Steiger & co., The International co., Chicago, Mühlbauer & Behrle, Boston, Charles Schönhol. HEIDELBERG, JULIUS GROOS, 1890.

Give: Heidelberg, J. Groos; New York, E. Steiger & co.; (etc., etc.) 1890.

When the title-page reads

3 Two or more places and publishers.—Indicate the omission of both a place and publisher by (etc., etc.) immediately preceding date and separated from the last-named publisher by a semicolon.

Examples:

When the title-page reads
Published by J. A. Bancroft & co., Philadelphia, J. W. Schermerhorn & co.,
New York, C. G. Cooke, Boston, Hendricks & Potter, St. Louis, Speakman & Proctor, Chicago, 1867.

See also illustrations under 2, Books published abroad.

4 Two or more places, publisher the same.—Indicate the omission of a place from the imprint by (etc.) after the last place given.

Examples:

When the title-page reads
Buffalo, Chicago, New York, Charles Wells Moulton, 1886.

Give: Buffalo, New York (etc.) C. W. Moulton, 1886.
Or if the title-page reads

5 One place with two or more publishers.— Indicate the omission of a publisher's name by [etc.] after the last name given.

Example:
When the title-page reads
London, David Nutt, Dulau & co., Sampson Low & co., 1890.

6 Two places connected by and, und, et, etc., or by a dash (-) or other device, with publisher's name either preceding or following.— Give imprint in the usual order and include the conjunction:
Leipzig und Wien, Bibliographisches institut, 1900.
Arnhem-Nijmegen, E. & M. Cohen [1899]

7 Public documents.— In state and city publications, especially those of serial character, when there are frequent changes of place and publisher (or printer) omit publisher. Give the name of the first-mentioned place, followed by [etc.] using pencil when the first volume of the series is lacking.

8 Imprints without publisher's or printer's name.— If the name of neither publisher nor printer appears on the title-page but the printer's name is given on the verso of title-page, at the end of the volume, or elsewhere in the book, this information is to be supplied in brackets even though the name of the publisher is ascertainable. Thus, if the volume has only "Washington, 1882" as imprint, but on the verso of the title-page "Baltimore, W. K. Boyle, printer," give

If, on the contrary, the title-page has a full imprint, as "New York, The Macmillan company, 1898," and on the verso "New era printing co., Lancaster, Penna.," no notice of the latter is ordinarily to be taken in cataloging. When bibliographically important or otherwise of interest, the printer's name should be added; as,
London, N. Trübner [Colombo, S. J. A. Skee, printer]
Paris, Dentu [Guernsey, Imprimerie universelle]

9 Addition of name of state or country after place of publication.— When the place of publication is not well known or is one of several cities of the same name, the name of the state or country is to be supplied if it does not appear in the imprint. If it occurs in the imprint it is to be given, even after the names of well-known cities.
Amherstberg [Ont.]; Rome [N. Y.]; Rome [Ga.]

10 Dissertations.— a) Follow title-page, giving place, printer's (respectively publisher's) name in shortest form, and date. b) When place and date (without publisher or printer) are followed by printer's address, i. e. by another place with printer's name, give only the first; e. g.

   Giessen, Münchow'sche hof- und universitäts-druckerei (O. Kindt) 1903.

b) Leipzig, W. Engelmann, 1899.
   Leipzig, 1898.

11 Fictitious imprints.— Give imprint as found on title-page, followed by actual imprint in brackets, as follows:
Paris, Imp. Vincent, 1798 [i.e. Bruxelles, Moens, 1883]

Imaginary imprints are to be treated as part of the title of the work when the real imprint can be ascertained, the latter following in brackets in the usual position; as,

12 Variations in imprint.— If the place or publisher varies in the different volumes of a set, state the fact in a note, giving the variations if of sufficient importance.

13 Privately printed books.— Give the statement that a book is privately printed as it appears on the title-page. If the statement does not appear on the title-page, it is to be supplied in the imprint or in a note.

14 Language of imprint.— The imprint is to be given as found on the title-page, and is neither to be translated nor transliterated.

DATE

1 Undated title-page.— When there is no date on the title-page, but the preface is dated, give the date of the latter (preceded by "pref." and bracketed) provided the actual date of publication cannot be ascertained from other sources. When it is possible to determine the actual date of issue the date of the preface need be given (in a note) only when there is a wide discrepancy between it and the ascertained date of publication supplied in the imprint.

2 Copyright date.— a) In the case of copyrighted books, when there is no date on the title-page and the date of publication cannot be determined, give in the imprint the date of copyright, preceded by a superior "c" and bracketed; as,

New York, H. Holt & co. ™1894

b) If the date of the copyright entry is earlier than the date of issue, the former need be given only in exceptional cases, for instance when the existence and date of an earlier (first) issue or edition have not been definitely established, or when a more precise date cannot be given.

Examples:

When the title-page is dated, write: 1902 ™1899
When the title-page is not dated, but bears copyright notice, write: 1902 ™1878

c) When there is no date on the title-page and the date of copyright printed on the verso of title-page differs from that furnished by the records of the Copyright office, give the former in the imprint and the latter in a note.

3Irregularly dated title-page.— When a work consists of many volumes with different dates, whether of the same or of different editions, give in the imprint the inclusive dates separated by a dash and state in a note or in contents the dates of the individual volumes and the numbers of their respective editions.

10 v. 22 1/2 cm.

When only one volume (e. g. the first one) is irregularly dated, as in the case of collected works with an introductory volume issued after the others, the date may be given in the following form:

1876–79 [v. 1, '79]

When there are only two volumes in a work, give the dates in the order of the volumes separated by a comma in place of the usual dash. Thus:

Collignon, Edouard i.e. Romain Charles Edouard, 1831– Cours de mécanique appliquée aux constructions ... Paris, Dunod, 1885, '80.
2 v. tables, diagrs. 24 1/2 cm.

158 Collation. Give all items of collation in English and in the following order: 1st, volumes or pages; 2d, illustrations; 3d, size.

159 Volumes, pages. Give the number of volumes,* or of pages if there is only one volume.

*If a contents note is added to the entry for a work in several volumes the paging of each volume may be given in the contents.
160 Paging. Indicate the number of pages by giving the last number of each paging, separating the numbers by a comma. The addition of unpaged matter may be shown by a + , or the number of pages, ascertained by counting, may be given in brackets. Give paging in Arabic or Roman figures, according to the book. In unpaged works, and in works having the pages lettered, or numbered in figures other than Arabic or Roman (e.g., Greek) the number of pages may be given in brackets, the signatures being noted only in the case of rare or important works.

161 Illustrations, etc. Give illustrations in the following order: frontispiece, illustrations, plates, photographs, portraits, maps, plans, facsimiles, tables, diagrams.

Give the number of plates, maps, etc., when it can be easily ascertained.

Plates, portraits, etc. are to be specified whether included in the paging or not.

162 Collation of rare works. In the case of rare works reference may also be made in notes to detailed descriptions and collations given in bibliographical works.

163 Imperfect copies. In cataloging an imperfect copy, mention the deficiencies in a note.

164 Size. Give height of book in centimeters, exact to one-half centimeter. That is, if exact height be

When books are "narrow," "square," "oblong," or otherwise of very unusual size, give both dimensions, e.g.

(cf. Cutter, 279 and p. 155-156)

165 Atlases.* Atlases which accompany any given work are not as a rule to be cataloged separately. After imprint and collation write and atlas.

Mahon, Dennis Hart. Industrial drawing ... By D. H. Mahan ... New York, J. Wiley & sons, 1877. xiii, 209 p. col. front. (plan) illus. 24_m. and atlas of 30 fold. pl. 23\frac{1}{2}_m.

The collation is to be given in a separate line immediately after the imprint (i.e. after place, publisher, and date) and in the following order: 1st, paging; 2d, illustrations; 3d, size.

PAGING

1 Paging is to be given for works of one volume only.
2 When a work consists of more than one volume, give the number of volumes. If the volumes are pag ed continuously, add a note giving the paging:
   2 v. 24cm.
   Paged continuously; v. 1: vi, 536 p.; v. 2: i p. l., 537–999 p., 2 l.

3 Give unnumbered printed pages in brackets:
   vi, [4]-256 p.
   xiv, [12], 459 p.

4 Give unpaged matter as leaves when one side of the leaf is blank:
   xii p., 2 l., 192 p.
   See also 5.

5 Half-title, title, preface, contents, or other preliminary matter, when not included in paging, is to be specified as "preliminary leaves."
   1 p. l., vi p., i l., 608 p., 2 l.
   When the actual number of preliminary pages is either greater or smaller than that indicated by the first numbered page, write:
   but

6 Give numbered leaves as follows:
   218 numb. l.
   10 p. l., 112 numb. l., 3 l.

7 When the preface, contents, etc. are paged in roman, write:
   See also 5.

8 When a pamphlet or book, bound or unbound, has no other title-page than the cover-title, this is to be included in the collation.
   cover-title, 85 p.
   cover-title, iii, 112 p.
   cover-title, 131-36 p.
   cover-title, iv-ixii p.

9 When the paging is very complicated it is generally advisable to give the total in brackets, instead of the separate paginations, adding as a note:
   Various paging.
ILLUSTRATIONS

Illustrations are to be given in the following order and form: front., illus.,* pl.,* phot., port., map (or maps), plan (or plans), facsim., tab., diagr. When there is more than one plate, portrait, etc., and the number is not specified in the collation, use the plural: fronts., illus., plates, photos., ports., maps, plans, facsims., tables, diagrs.

1 When the illustrations are colored, write: col. front., col. plates, facsims. in colors, etc., etc. In the case of maps and diagrams specify only when important.

2 When frontispiece, plates, maps, etc. are included in the paging, write: xvi, 357 p. incl. front., illus., plates, maps.

3 Any illustration, other than an engraved title, facing or immediately preceding the title-page shall be designated in the collation as a frontispiece, thus:
   front.
   front. (port.)
   front. (map)
   but not front. (pl.)

When the book contains other illustrations of the same character the specification after "front." is to be omitted:
   front., illus., plates, ports.
   not
   front. (port.) illus., plates, ports.

When there are two or more volumes, all or some of which have frontispieces, write, as the case may be:
   4 v. fronts.
   2 v. front. (v. 2)
   5 v. fronts. (v. 1-2)
   10 v. fronts. (v. 1, 4)

4 When the number of plates, maps, etc. can be easily ascertained, e.g. when they are numbered, listed, or collected, or, if distributed through the text, when they are on heavy paper, state the number:
   a) As given in the book:
      2 pl., LV maps.
      XLIII pl., 8 maps.
      front., 30 pl. (facsim.)
      illus., 10 facsim. on 6 pl.
      When the actual number differs, add it in curves:
      LXXX (i.e. 83) pl., 8 maps.
   b) As ascertained by count, giving the number in arabic:
      30 pl., 6 port., 3 maps.
   c) When there are two or more volumes and the plates, etc. are numbered separately in each volume, give the total in arabic figures, thus:
      3 v.  40 pl.
      not
      3 v.  x, xvi, xiv pl.
   d) In cataloging an imperfect copy give in the collation the number of plates, etc. which the book should contain, and in a note state the defects of the copy in question.

5 When the illustrations in the text include portraits, maps, facsimiles, etc., which form an important feature of the book and would which not otherwise be brought out, they may be specified in the collation as follows:
   2 p. l., 296 p. illus. (incl. ports., maps, facsims.)
   Iv, 348 p. illus. (incl. ports., facsim.) plates, maps.

When portraits or any other particular kind of illustrations occur both in the text and in the form of plates, those in the text need not be specified:
   illus., ports.
   not illus. (incl. ports.) port.

* Illus. as here used stands for illustrations in the text, as distinguished from plates, plate meaning a full page illustration printed on a leaf the verso of which is blank.

illus. (incl. maps) ports., facsim.

not illus. (incl. ports., maps) port., facsim.

Tables in the text (when a feature of the book, e. g. tables in mathematical, statistical and technical works) are not to be regarded as included under "illustrations"; they are to be specified in the collation, e. g.

g. e. 487 p. incl. tables.

487 p. incl. illus., tables, diagrs.

When there are tables both in the text and in the form of plates, only the latter need, as a rule, be specified, e. g.

487 p. illus., tables.

When a book is chiefly made up of tables, e. g. tables of logarithms, annuities, etc., omit "tables" in the collation.

6 For mathematical or mechanical diagrams use the abbreviation "diagr.," not "illus."

7 The word music is not to be used in collation. The fact that the book contains music is to be brought out in a note when not stated in the title.

SIZE

1 Give the height of a book in centimeters, exact to one-half centimeter. Thus, if the exact height be

169 mm (16.9 cm) write 17 cm.

170 mm (17.0 cm) write 17 cm.

171 mm (17.1 cm) write 17 cm.

172 mm (17.2 cm) write 17 cm.

173 mm (17.3 cm) write 17 1/2 cm.

174 mm (17.4 cm) write 17 1/2 cm.

175 mm (17.5 cm) write 17 1/2 cm.

176 mm (17.6 cm) write 17 1/2 cm.

177 mm (17.7 cm) write 17 1/2 cm.

178 mm (17.8 cm) write 18 cm.

179 mm (17.9 cm) write 18 cm.

If it is desired to give the exact measurement of a plate, map, or an extraordinary book (e. g. "microscopic" edition) give the size in millimeters; as, 271 X 345 mm.

2 When books are "narrow," "square," or "oblong," or otherwise of very unusual size, give both dimensions; as,

17 x 10 em (a narrow book, width less than 3/4 height)

17 x 14 em (a square book, width more than 3/4 height)

17 x 28 em (an oblong book, width more than 3/4 height)

3 When there are two or more volumes of the same work differing in size, write:

2 v. 18 cm (v. 2: 15 cm)

5 v. 25 cm (v. 1, 4: 23 cm)

3 v. in 1. 22 cm (v. 1-2: 19 cm)

4 When several pamphlets or works of different sizes are bound together, write:

Haddonfield, N. J. Grand centennial celebration, July 4th, 1876, at Haddonfield, N. J. Programme. Philadelphia, W. Mann, printer (1876)

5 In the case of serials varying sizes may be indicated thus:

24 v. 18-24 cm.

The extra size of a given volume or volumes may be specified, when practicable, in the contents or in a note.

6 When an atlas or a portfolio of plates accompanying any given work is not to be cataloged separately, it is to be noted immediately after the collation of the work itself.

a) When, as is usually the case, the atlas and the work are of different sizes, write:

3 v. l., 100 p. illus. 25 cm. and atlas of 40 pl. 27 1/2 cm.

4 v. 24 cm. and portfolio of 24 pl. 30 cm.

ix p. 1 l., 300 p., 1 l. front., illus. 18 cm. and atlas. 23 x 25 cm.

5 v. 20 cm. and atlas of 18 pl., 14 maps. 28 cm.
b) When they are of the same size, write:
2 v. and atlas. 24⁷⁄₈m.
1 p. l., vii, 400 p. and atlas. 26⁷⁄₈m.

166 Series note. Give the name of the series to which the book belongs in parenthesis after the collation, preceded by Half-title, On cover, etc. if the series does not appear on the title-page. (Eclectic, 264–269)
The words “Half-title,” “On cover,” etc. may be omitted on written cards.

Library of Congress supplementary rule 2.

1 The series note is to be given immediately after the collation in the form in which it occurs on the title-page. Its omission from the title is to be indicated by three dots (...)

Hale, Susan. ... The story of Mexico, by Susan Hale. New York, G. P. Putnam's sons; [etc., etc.] 1889.
xvi, 428 p. col. front., illus., fold. map. 20⁷⁄₈m. (The story of the nations [v. 23])

2 v. illus., xxv pl. (incl. 2 maps) 32 x 24²⁷⁄₈m. (Nova acta. Abh. der Kaiserl. Leop.-Carol. deutschen akademie der naturforscher, bd. xxxi, nr. 1–2)

2 When the series is not given on the title-page the form in which it appears is to be specified as follows:

a) When it occurs on a special title-page, on the half-title, or on the cover, write in the usual place:
(Added t.-p.: Les littératures populaires de toutes les nations ... t. XLIV)

(Half-title: ... Early English text society. Extra series, no. LXXXII)

(Half-title: Riverside edition. The writings of ... Whittier, v. 7)

(On cover: True stories of great Americans)

(On cover: The complete writings of Theodore Roosevelt)

Repeat the author's name in the series note when the latter would otherwise be ambiguous, thus:

Pérez Galdós, Benito, 1845– ... Miau; por B. Pérez Galdós. Madrid, Impr. de la Guirnalda, 1888.
432 p. 19⁷⁄₈m. (On cover: Novelas españolas contemporáneas por B. Pérez Galdós)

If the authorship is self-evident, omit the author's name; as, (Half-title: Complete works ... v. 8)

not

(Half-title: Complete works of William Wordsworth, v. 8)

When the series entry is other than a title entry, i. e. an entry under author, editor, publisher, society, etc., the latter should be included in brief form in the series note, thus:

Hawes, Stephen, d. 1523? ... The pastime of pleasure ... by Stephen Hawes ...
2 p. l., xii, 220 p. 19²⁷⁄₈m. (Added t.-p.: Percy society. Early English poetry ... 1846. vol. XVIII)

b) When the information is obtained from publisher's list in the book, or from outside sources, use brackets instead of parenthesis; as,
(International scientific series, v. 15)

3 When the series title occurs both on the regular title-page and on a separate title-page the following form is to be used:

Series title also at head of t.-p.
CONTENTS, NOTES, ADDED ENTRIES, ANALYTICAL ENTRIES, REFERENCES

167 Contents. Give contents of books containing several works by the same author, or works by several authors, or works on several subjects, or a single work on a number of distinct subjects, especially if the collective title does not sufficiently describe them.

The designation of parts, volumes, faciculi, or other divisions of a work is to be given in the language of the book. (cf. 174, Figures: Contents)

Give contents in the order in which they appear in the book,* and in paragraph form rather than in columns except in special cases where the latter arrangement has decided advantages. In case different parts are written by different authors, let the name of the author follow rather than precede the title, provided always this is the order of arrangement in the book.

168 Notes. Add notes when necessary to explain the title or to correct any misapprehension to which it might lead, and also to supply essential information about the author and bibliographical details not given in the title, imprint, or colllation.

Notes are to be in English, except quotations from foreign sources, which are to be given preferably in the original. The source of the quotation is always to be specified, and the original punctuation, spelling, etc. to be preserved, even if it conflicts with other ruling.

Notes may be used to cover the following points: bibliographies, authorities, etc., pseudonyms and anonyms, sequels, variations in title, editors and translators, editions, various places, publishers, or dates, reprints, languages of the Added entry: Mixter, Charles Whitney, ed.

169 Added entries. In addition to those specified in previous rules, make added entries for the titles of all novels and plays and of poems likely to be remembered by their titles; for other striking titles; for editors; and in all cases where an added entry will insure the ready finding of the book. (Cutter, 135, 148-150, 153-155. Eclectic, 301-309, 315-319)

The number of added entries will depend upon the character of the library. In a card catalog which uses printed cards chiefly or exclusively, added entries frequently take the place of references. As these entries are made by writing the headings at the top of the printed cards, a full entry appears under each heading; in a written catalog, on the other hand, added entries are generally abbreviated. (cf. p. 78, Sample cards)

170 Analytical entries. Analytical entries under author or title may be made for distinct parts of works or collections, whether with or without separate title-pages. (Cutter, 193-196, 241, 275)

171 References. References should be freely made from alternative forms to the form of heading chosen, e. g. when an author, personal or corporate, has been known by more than one name, refer from the name or names not used as heading to the one selected.

CAPITALS, PUNCTUATION, FIGURES

172 Capitals. Initial capital letters are to be used for names of persons, personifications, places, and bodies, for substitutes for proper names, and for adjectives derived from these names; for the first word of the title of a book; in title entries (anonymous works, periodicals, etc.) for the second word of the title if the first is an article. In all doubtful cases avoid the use of capitals. In foreign languages follow the local practice.

For libraries which desire a more specific statement the following revision of the Library of Congress rules on the use of capitals, printed as Appendix I in the Advance edition of 1902, may be of service.

a) Capitalize the first word of every sentence, every title occurring on the title-page, every title quoted, and every alternative title introduced by "or" or its equivalent. In quoting titles of serials like the Nation, the Times, la Revue philanthropique, capitalize not the article but the word following.

b) Capitalize the word following an initial article in serials and collections, when entered under title.*

The Quarterly journal of economics.
A Hundred merry tales.

c) Capitalize all proper names, as names of persons, places, etc., except those otherwise provided for in these rules.

Richard Roe, North America, etc.

d) Adjectives used substantively to denote a race or individual members of a race or people are to be capitalized in the chief European languages, exceptions being Spanish, Portuguese, and the Scandinavian languages.

the English, une Francaise, gli Italiani; but los espanoles, danskerne, tyskarne.

e) In English, when a geographic name consists of a distinctive and a generic word, capitalize both.†

Mississippi River, Bay of Fundy, District of Columbia, Suffolk County, Adirondack Mountains, Lake Ontario.

When, however, the generic word precedes and does not form an integral part of the commonly used form of the name, it is not to be capitalized.

city of Boston, state of Michigan.

f) Capitalize designations in common use as substitutes for names of places, and the terms North, East, etc. when used alone to denote a definite region.

the Empire state, the Middle kingdom, la terre Jaune, l'empire du Milieu, the West.

g) Adjectives derived from geographical names are to be capitalized in English and Dutch only.

the Austrian succession, de Indische fabel; but rheinische schiffahrt, la societe parisienne.

* In the titles of anonymous books the word following an initial article is not capitalized, but is printed in bold-face type.
† In names of streets, avenues, squares, and similar designations the generic word is not as a rule to be capitalized.
Exceptions:
1 Do not capitalize geographical adjectives that have lost their original signification.
   india ink, gum arabic, roman numerals.
2 Capitalize the German indeclinable adjectives ending in er.
   die Naunheimer mundart.
3 Capitalize adjectives used alone in place of the full names of buildings, institutions, etc.
   la Vaticana, la Palatina, etc.

h) Capitalize names of languages in English and Dutch only.
   French, Maleisch; but français, deutsch.

i) Adjectives derived from names of persons — unless used in a generic sense — are to be capitalized in English and Dutch. In other languages follow local usage.
   Machiavellian theories, Riemannsch oppervlak; but epicurean tastes, Società dantesca italiana.

j) Capitalize by-names affixed to and epithets standing in place of names of persons.
   Gregorius Turonensis, Alexander the Great, Friedrich Barbarossa, Julianus Apostata, the Pretender.

k) In English and Dutch, capitalize titles of honor and distinction immediately preceding or standing instead of a person’s name. They are not to be capitalized when placed after the name. In French, German, Italian, Spanish, and the Scandinavian languages such titles are to begin with a small letter whether they precede or follow the name.

Abbreviations of titles of honor or distinction preceding personal names are to be capitalized in English, French, Dutch, and Spanish only.

l) Capitalize titles of address, whether written in full or abbreviated, except in German and the Scandinavian languages.
   Monsieur, Madame, Signor, Señor, Don, Donna, Mrs., Mlle.; but herr, fröken, fru, jomfru.

m) Capitalize the first word not an article of the names of societies and other organized bodies, as government departments, legislative bodies, commissions, etc. In heading and imprint capitalize both the initial article and the following word.
   the General court,
   A history of the Century co.
When, however, the first portion of the name consists of an abbreviation like I., K., R., etc. (the honorary designations frequently prefixed to names of foreign societies and academies) proceed as follows:

a) In title, imprint, notes, and contents.

Capitalize the word following the titular designation when the latter consists of a single-letter abbreviation, e.g. K., I., R., or K. K.

R. Accademia delle scienze di Torino.
K. K. Akademie der bildenden künste.
N. Ó. Gewerb-verein.

If the abbreviation consists of more than one letter do not capitalize the word following.

Kgl. sächs. ministerium des innern.
Königl. bayr. akademie der wissenschaften.
Grossherzogl. badische hof- und landesbibliothek.
Nied. österr. gewerb-verein.

b) In headings.

Always capitalize the word following the abbreviation.

Karlsruhe, Grossh. Badische hof- und landesbibliothek.

n) Capitalize in English the first word of the names of buildings, monuments, etc. In foreign languages follow local usage.

Assembly hall, Peace monument, l'Hôtel de ville de Paris, tour des Ventes.

o) Capitalize in names of societies and other bodies, and in names of streets, buildings, monuments, etc., all arbitrary, fanciful, or otherwise purely individual epithets, including such words as have lost their original meaning.

Star and Garter inn, Court of Oyer and Terminer, Covent Garden (the theater), Inner Temple.

p) Capitalize names of months, days of the week, etc., in English and Dutch only; also nouns denoting partisans of sects, religious orders, political parties, etc., and adjectives derived from them.

Maandag, Baptists, Trappist, Whigs; but samedi le 29 avril, janseniste, benedettino.

Names of noted events and periods are not to be capitalized.

middle ages, civil war, reformation.

q) When occurring in the Latin nominative case, scientific names of subgenera, genera, and all higher divisions in zoology and botany are to be capitalized, but names of species and varieties are not to be capitalized. All zoological and botanical names in the Latin nominative case are to be italicized. Scientific names popularly used are to take capitals and italics when they are names of divisions of the animal or vegetable kingdom, as Mammalia, Fungi, and not mere group names unrecognized in scientific nomenclature, as "cacti."

Lilium grayi, not Lilium Grayi.
Salvinia natans, but De salvinia natante.
The genus Stereocaulon, but De stereocaulis.
Genus Hypnum, subgenus Amblystegium.
Loasaceae, but loasaceen.
Rosaceae, but rosaèces.

r) Do not capitalize common nouns in any language even when national usage prescribes it.
173 Punctuation. The punctuation of the title-page is generally to be followed; if there is no punctuation it is to be supplied. As far as possible, the use of two points together is to be avoided.

In case of doubt follow De Vinne's "Correct composition," or Bigelow's "Punctuation."

Accents. Supply accents in Greek titles, in French titles after 1800, and in titles in other languages when essential.

Brackets. Additions to the title or to the imprint should be inclosed in square brackets [ ].

If the author's name is not given on the title-page, it should be bracketed in the heading; but if it appears on the title-page, and is included in the catalog entry, names or parts of names supplied in the heading need not be bracketed. In the series note, when the information is obtained from a publisher's list in the book or from outside sources, use brackets instead of parentheses.

Parentheses. Parentheses are used to signify inclusion, as in the case of series notes and analytical references; also to indicate the maiden names of married women.

Dash. The dash (–) is used to connect numbers, signifying "to and including," e.g. 1876–1886. Following a number it signifies continuation, e.g. 1900–

A longer dash (—) is used to separate items of contents.

A single dash or indent indicates the omission of the preceding heading; a subsequent dash or indent indicates the omission of a title.

Marks of omission. Marks of omission (...) are used to indicate omissions from the title.

Interrogation point. The interrogation point following a word, date, initial, or other item of the entry, signifies doubtful or probable.

Exclamation point. The exclamation point is used on printed cards to indicate misprints or obvious errors in spelling. In a written card catalog dots below (...) the letter or word are used for the same purpose.

Period. The period is used (a) for abbreviations, but not after 1st, 2d, 3d, 4th, etc.; (b) at the end of sentences or groups of items (e.g. in collation) when they end with no other point; (c) to separate the main heading from the subheading; (d) in contents (followed by a dash) to separate items.

Semicolon. A semicolon is ordinarily used to separate the title proper from the phrase relating to the editor, translator, etc.

174 Figures. Use arabic figures rather than roman.

In headings roman numerals are to be used after the names of sovereigns, princes, and popes.

Richard III; Leo XIII.

In titles follow the title-page, except in specifying edition, when arabic figures may be used.

8th ed.; not Eighth ed.

In imprint follow rule 155.

* On the Library of Congress printed cards angle brackets < > are used for purposes of distinction to indicate brackets actually occurring on the title-page.
In collation give paging, plates, etc. in arabic or roman figures according to the notation used in the book.

In contents arabic figures are generally to be used for the designation of volumes, parts, etc.,* unless roman figures have been employed for the purpose of distinguishing between volumes and parts, bände and abteilungen, etc.

For explanation of numerals, dates, and chronograms see Brown's Manual of practical bibliography; Power's Handy-book about books; Wheatley's How to catalogue a library; Hilton's Chronograms; Rouveyre's Connaissances nécessaires à un bibliophile, 5th ed., v. 2, and other authorities.

* Library of Congress follows the form given in the book.
APPENDIX 1

ABBREVIATIONS

The following list is not intended to be complete. It does not include the ordinary abbreviations for names of states, titles of honor, etc., which can be easily ascertained by referring to the authorities mentioned below.

The ordinary abbreviations for states and countries may be used in a heading if they do not stand at the beginning.

Words in the title proper are not to be abbreviated. Certain abbreviations, indicated in the following list, may be used in the second part of the title (referred to below as "edition") Abbreviations which appear on the title-page are not to be changed.

In a written card catalog abbreviations may be used more frequently than is desirable for printed cards.

APPENDIX 2

REPORT OF THE A. L. A. TRANSLITERATION COMMITTEE

This Report was made to the American Library Association in 1885, and printed in the Proceedings of the Lake George Conference, and in the Library Journal, 10: 302–8.

In determining the principles of transliteration it must be remembered that a catalog is not a learned treatise intended for special scholars, and bound to an erudite consistency, at whatever cost of convenience. It is simply a key to open the doors of knowledge to a partly ignorant and partly learned public, and it is very important that such a key should turn easily. A good catalog, therefore, will be a compromise between the claims of learning and logic on the one hand, and of ignorance, error, and custom on the other. Speaking generally, that form of name must be chosen with which people now are, and in the future will be, most familiar. This reference to the future is important. The catalog must not be in advance of its age; but, on the other hand, it will not be well that it should be behind the next generation. If, therefore, there is an evident current of progress in any direction the makers of the catalog will do well to be a little before the present practice, in the hope that the world will soon catch up with them, not to pass them before the catalog itself has been superseded by another. The larger the catalog, therefore, and the less likely to be soon reprinted, the more may it venture to be ahead of the times. Nevertheless the maker will do well to remember that the future is very uncertain.

One evident current of progress there is,—in favor of adopting the continental value of the vowels, representing the ou sound, for instance, not by ou nor by oo (as does Dr. Thomas), but by u; writing, therefore, Butan, not Boutan nor Boutan, Turgenef and not Tourguenneff; using also a and not ah for the sound of a in father, papa (speaking as a New Englander); using the i for the English e sound; and giving what are unfortunately called the corresponding short sounds by doubling the following consonant; thus Nana would be spelt with one n, but Nanny with two. This tendency, which has been gathering strength for some time, has at last received the sanction of an influential body, the Royal Geographical Society, and can be followed with safety.

The following notes are taken mostly from Mr. Heilprin's articles in the Nation:

1 For ancient Greek names use the Latin forms, e. g. Homerus not Homeros, Plato not Platon, Philippus not Philippos. But where two forms are in common use choose that which is nearest the Greek.

2 For Egyptian names known to us through the Greek, both the Greek and the Egyptian forms (as Cheops and Shufu) should be given, with a reference from the one which is not chosen for the main entry.
3 Biblical names are to be written as we find them in the English Bible, and the names of post-Biblical Jews, if derived from the Scriptures, should retain their Anglicized form. On the other hand, a strict transliteration is demanded of rabbinical and other more or less pure Hebrew names which are not taken from Scriptures, and therefore have no popular English forms, to which, again, there is an exception in the case of a few celebrated Jewish authors, as Maimonides, where an un-Hebrew form has been fully adopted in English literature.

East Indian names have such long-accepted forms that it might well be doubted whether it will do to use any others. Cashmere, Mooltan, Jellaleddin, Punjaub, have taken their places in literature and in the popular mind. Nevertheless, as the better system which writes Kashmir, Multan, Jalal ud Din, Punjab, is now adopted in most histories, in all official documents, among others in Hunter's great statistical dictionary of Bengal, it is evident that it is the coming method, and, in accordance with the principles already laid down, we are inclined to recommend this spelling rather than the clumsy English fashion of the last generation.

All other Asiatic and African names should be transliterated according to the rules of the Royal Geographical Society, which we quote here from their Proceedings for August, 1885 (p. 535, 536).

The Council of the Royal Geographical Society have adopted the following rules for such geographical names as are not, in the countries to which they belong, written in the roman character. These rules are identical with those adopted for the Admiralty charts, and will henceforth be used in all publications of the society:

1 No change will be made in the orthography of foreign names in countries which use roman letters: thus, Spanish, Portuguese, Dutch, etc. names will be spelled as by the respective nations.

2 Neither will any change be made in the spelling of such names in languages which are not written in roman characters as have become by long usage familiar to English readers: thus, Calcutta, Cutch, Celebes, Mecca, etc. will be retained in their present form.

3 The true sound of the word, as locally pronounced, will be taken as the basis of the spelling.

4 An approximation, however, to the sound is alone aimed at. A system which would attempt to represent the more delicate inflections of sound and accent would be so complicated as to defeat itself.

5 The broad features of the system are, that vowels are pronounced as in Italian and consonants as in English.

6 One accent only is used — the acute — to denote the syllable on which stress is laid.

7 Every letter is pronounced. When two vowels come together each one is sounded, though the result, when spoken quickly, is sometimes scarcely to be distinguished from a single sound, as in ai, au, ei.

8 Indian names are accepted as spelt in Hunter's Gazetteer.
The amplification of the rules is given below:

A few points need to be emphasized. Of course the consonantal sound in itch should never be expressed in transliteration by the Polish cz, nor by the German tsch. Tch has been much used for this sound; but the t is hardly necessary if, as the Geographical Society recommend, ch is always used with this sound only and never with the sound sh. Of course there is no reason why ch should be used in foreign names with the sound sh any more than j with the sound zh. All that was needed to prevent ambiguity was for some competent authority to make a rule; and these rules of the Geographical Society will no doubt soon be copied into all manuals and followed by the majority. In this connection we express our regret that a new edition of Dr. Thomas’s excellent Dictionary of Biography continues to give his support to what we believe is an obsolescent system of transliteration.

Nor should the consonantal sound in judge be rendered by the English dg, nor the French dj, nor the German dsch, but by j alone. Likewise the consonantal sound in she is not to be written after the French style, ch, nor as the Germans do, sch. The sound which the French transliterate by j we must express by zh (e. g. Nizhni Novgorod). Tz is best used in Semitic and Slavic names, and ts in Japanese and Chinese. For the Semitic "yod" y is the proper equivalent, and not the German j. But after a consonant in the same syllable it is usual to change the y to i (Biela not Byela), and in Russian names ai, ei, oi, ui are used instead of ay, ey, oy, uy (Alexei not Alexey). After i the y is dropped (Dobni not Dobniy). W is to be used rather than i in Arabic names (e. g. Moawiyah). But the Russian, Serb, Bulgarian, and Wallach contain no such sound or letter as w, and we must write Paskevitch, Vasili, not as do the Germans, Paskewitch, Wasili. In the last syllable of names of places (Azov, Kiev) ev and ov are to be used, because the Russians use the corresponding letter, though they pronounce ef and of (in the nominative cases). But in the last syllable of family names, similarly pronounced, of and ef may be used, because the Russians sign their names aff and eff when using roman characters. The last f, which they use, may be omitted as being plainly not required to express the sound, and not corresponding to the Russian character. Kh represents the full guttural, which the Germans make ch and the Spanish j in Slavic and Oriental names. Il answers to the softer guttural as well as to the Hebrew he. K answers to the Semitic kaph and kaph.

The use of ei for the sound of a in fate, ea in great, ai in trait, is not altogether satisfactory. It is not easy to see why e was not used to represent this sound, and the short e, like the short a, i, o, and u, indicated by doubling the following consonant, as Yeddo, Meddina.

The general rule, then, is to use the consonants with their English value, the vowels with their continental, or, to speak more explicitly, their German and Italian value, for the French value of u should never be used, and the short French a requires of us a doubled consonant after it. Their ou and our oo is quite unnecessary to express the sound of the last syllable of Timbuctu or Khartum.

* Unless some other non-initial vowel is written, short a is always implied.

*Table furnished to the Committee by Prof. C. R. Lanman of Harvard University.
Professor Lanman remarks on his table:

1 It will be observed that each of the five rows numbered 1 to 5 consists of five letters; the second and fourth in each, i.e. the aspirates, are often written, especially in older works, thus, $k', g', c', j', l', d', t', p', b'$; that is, the rough breathing takes the place of the $h$.

2 Write long vowels with a macron, thus, $a$, $i$, $u$, $e$, and not with a circumflex.

3 Wherever you find the combination $ri$, with a dot under the $r$, reduce it to simple $r$, since it is a simple unitary sound.

4 The palatals (row 2) are often written by means of the gutturals and an accent: thus, we find $k'$, $k'h$, $g'$, $g'h$ for $c$, $ch$, $j$, $jh$, and in some German books $c$ (which has the sound of $ch$ in church) is written $tsch$, and $j$ (= $j$ in judge) in like manner $dsch$. Further, $c$ and $ch$ are written in some English works as $ch$ and $cch$, a useless waste of labor.

5 When the third palatal is written by $g$, it is common among the Germans to write the first semi-vowel by $j$. The last semi-vowel is often written $w$ (instead of $v$).

6 The transliteration of the first two sibilants is very fluctuating. My $z$ is written $s$ by Monier Williams in his dictionary.

The second sibilant is often written $sh$, sometimes $s$, by me as $s$, like the other linguals.

7 Finally an $s$ at the end of a Sanskrit word is converted into an aspiration called $visarga$, and written thus ː, and in transliteration is written in this manner, $h$. The nasality of a vowel is marked by $i$ or $m$ which appears in the Sanskrit as a dot above the body of the consonant.

For a brief and lucid discussion of these matters and a defense of the system of Professor Whitney, of Yale, which is followed in his grammar and in Lanman's reader, see the Proceedings of the American Oriental Society, October, 1880, p. xvii (reprinted in its Journal, vol. 11, p. li-liv).
REPORT OF A. L. A. COMMITTEE ON TRANSLITERATION OF SLAVIC LANGUAGES

Presented at the Montreal meeting of the American Library Association, June 11, 1900.

The committee appointed by the American Library Association to propose a scheme for the transliteration of the Slavic alphabets, after having examined the systems in use in the principal libraries and scientific periodicals, offers the following as the result of its labors. It seems at present impossible to offer a strictly scientific scheme; recognition must be made of custom prevalent in the large libraries of this country and Europe. The committee has taken for a base the Latin alphabet of the Croatians with some variations, and the substitution of i for j. Alternatives are suggested for use in any libraries which deem it advisable to employ special accented characters.

Note. Certain exceptions are reserved. Names of Greek writers who have published books in any of the western European languages and are better known under a form of name transliterated differently may be given in that form. The exceptions involve chiefly the transliteration of the following letters:

1 Β, β transliterated by V, v.

3 Χ, χ transliterated by Η, η.
4 Η, η transliterated by Ι, i.

SAMPLE CARDS

A few typical examples are given here to show possible variations in style and arrangement of matter, both of printed and of type-written (or manuscript) cards. In the examples indicated by an asterisk the printed part of the card is in the form used by the Library of Congress, and is the form which the Committee practically recommends, in order to secure as great a degree of uniformity as possible. Examples illustrating any given rule have been inserted in the body of the work, immediately after the rule concerned.

MAIN ENTRY CARDS

Note variations in typography of heading and collation, also position of collation, series note, shelf mark, and first word of title. The second sample illustrates the bracketing of forenames when the form of name as given on the title-page of the book is not quoted on the card.
